BOLIVAR, TENN.:
THURSDAY, JUNE 8.

ATTENTION!

After this issue the BOLIVAR BULLETIN will appear in new attire, unspotted, new and fresh with original articles and choice selections. We propose publishing a Journal that will faithfully represent the true interests and high character of Bolivar and all West Tennessee. We solicit a liberal patronage.

The Republican Race Course.

The Republicans are so intent on winning the Presidential election, that the Balkan scandal and other corrupt exposures are kicked out of the way as very nothingness. They mean success, and do not intend that even base human frailties, as illustrated in the numerous official villainies brought to light, shall be converted into stumbling blocks to impede their march to another presidential success. They are divided, however, into three sections, each under a different leadership, and hopeful of victory. Let us look at these factions.

Bristow heads a corps of determined reformers who have thrown to the breeze a banner bearing this device: "Purify the Government Down with the Thieves!" This proclamation has deafened written upon its face. It is an unmistakable admission that the Government has been terribly prostituted to wicked purposes under Republican rule, that it needs instant and thorough purification, and that the ring-thieves and official corruptionists must be driven out of the political temple. All this being palpable, no people, not even respectable Republicans, should be so blind to high public interest as to support a candidate whose party gave birth to such a catalogue of unparalleled official malfeasance as that of which the Republican party has been proven guilty. No. The reformation needed by the government is not that which Radicalism can give it. Public affairs have loudly demanded retrenchment, but no move in this direction was made, until the Democrats undertook to unearth the rottenness of Federal management. The country asked for a fish and received a serpent; asked for food and got a stone. This is the Republican under whose banner Bristow would hoodwink the people and become President. Republicanism cannot be trusted. It is too weak to reform abuses; it is too sectional and vindictive to favor a just reconstruction; too oligarchical to be entrusted with the high offices of State management. Bristow is a fair-minded, honorable man, but his political companionship is so tainted, so foul, that his integrity would never be able to leave the mass; on the contrary, if elected, like Sampson, he would soon be shorn of his strength, and be at the mercy of treacherous tricksters.

The second faction is led by Blaine. He and his retainers propose principally "to make a sharp, aggressive fight on the Southern question." In other words, to ignore party corruption and inflame the public mind of the North with the resurrected bitterness of war-times, and thus reopen the chasm, sectionalism, and bid his fiery heat once more arouse interstate hate. Upon a tidal wave of revived sectional hostility Blaine aspires to be lifted into the Presidential Chair. It will be a dark day, indeed, when such a character as his has shown himself to be the executive officer of the country. Under his malign rule, peaceful reconstruction would be substituted by that condition which the sword alone is intended to invoke. His elevation would lead to the re-establishment of a reign of terror similar to that which cursed the South immediately after the war. His Statesmanship is so full of sectional venom that its corrosiveness would be the death of fraternal unity between the States. May the country never feel the anacardic folds of his notorious hatred of the South. Civil liberty under his nursing would be changed into a spiteful tormentor—would tense and fret until to weakness all the forbearance and patriotism that the South could possibly command.

The other faction, under the guidance of Conkling, is the office-holders' wing. It is strong and determined, and has the immense patronage of Grant throughout all the departments of the Government. This influence has permeated every Southern State, and no doubt packed conventions with faithfully do the bidding of Conkling.

Let all these factions do their level best to plan the strongest representative ticket in the field, but the National Democratic party will show at each step in the progress of its campaign that the true character and aim of the ruling spirits in the Republican ranks have been, are now, and will be to prostitute the Government to the personal ambition of a few close-corruptionists—Blaine and his trusty followers have been weighed in just balances by the people and found wanting in true devotion to the best interests of the nation. Conkling may strut before the country in the gay colors of the proud peacock and demand that the army of office-holders should support him, as he is the liberal representative of Simon pure Grantism, but against him, too, is written a verdict of unfitness.

In short, the matter resolves itself into this. Every interest of every section has been sacrificed unto avarice with the wicked weaknesses of the present Administration. The country must have relief from the pressure of the leading hand of misrule. Let Democracy strip itself for a hand-to-hand fight with the Republican cohorts. The issue is accepted, and every inch of the ground must be contested.

Passenger rates on all roads eastward from Cincinnati, Ohio, have been reduced to the following rates: To Boston, $16; to New York, $14; to Philadelphia, $12; to St. Louis, $10; to Washington, $10.50.

The Nashville Work.

The late Democratic State Convention has completed its work and we await the final result of the St. Louis Convention. It is reported that eight-tenths of the delegation from this State favor Hendricks, and the remainder are for Tilden. However, let the result be what it may at St. Louis, though we prefer Western to any other man; yet when that august body throws to the breeze a Presidential campaign banner, we will support it and cling to it even if the objectionable Tilden should head the ticket. We are for Democratic success in November. The country in all its vast material and moral interests has been already too long at the mercy of unclean political rulers. There must be a change. And it is alone with the National Democracy to inaugurate this much-needed revolution. Before the final issue is joined, we as brethren may differ, but when the bugle summons the whole line to advance, let us stand shoulder to shoulder and move solidly forward to give the republican party the best candidate and grape to be found in Democratic ammunition chests.

That Blister.

So contradictorily tight are the times—so much given to a real twisting and knotty financial coil, that the debtor class, eager for even temporary relief, are generally seeking the services of that old quack of a commercial doctor, Mr. High-rated Deed of Trust. This condition of business affairs is confined to no one locality, but is very general throughout the country. We are told that the East is mortgaged up to its eyes, and that if the property in New York city, from the Fifth Avenue Hotel up to Central Park, was sold to-day, it wouldn't be able to discharge its mortgages. The largest and most extensive real estate agents have been ruinously sacrificed at foreclosure sales. So severely crushing has been the shrinkage in real estate values, that not even the mortgage holders have been able to save the myriad of sufferers. The Commercial body is so lean in flesh and poor in blood that this blistering application is, too often, of no avail.

Reader, if you in your business have this debt-coil, retrench and economize until the utmost before you shingle your homestead with that leech of a thing, a high-priced mortgage, and then, perhaps, after all your sacrifice, be forced to accept the auctioneer's "going, gone," as the last of a once free, and highly-valued home.

The Ill-Omened Bird—

—Reputation should never be allowed to find a home anywhere within the limits of the great State. The State debt is an obligation too sacred and binding to be lightly esteemed. Certain discontented men and enterprising demagogues may use it as a foot-hall to serve certain selfish ends and aims, but the plain intelligence and well-meaning worth of the general masses, as well as the rich and cultivated will, together, ignore any proposition, however specious that bears the least taint of repudiation. Let it not be supposed that the poor people of the Commonwealth favor such a scheme. Poverty may be advertised by its tattered garments and scanty fare, but as a general thing, the poor man is inclined to cling to honor longest amidst the wreck of his earthly fortunes. Ambitious and office-seeking politicians need not expect to win adherents to the standard of repudiation from among the lowly of the land.

Let the people resolve to pay the indebtedness of the State and send to the Legislature men who will properly represent them on this grave question. Send men of good strong common sense and open-face honesty—men who have the heart of a true patriot beating in their bosoms, and not the weak, sickly spirit of a political weather-cock.

As to compromising the debt, let the State meet the responsibility in its entirety and not propose any reduction. This is the pathway of manly honor. If, however, the holders of the bonds see proper to offer any terms as to payment, in that event the State would be justified in giving the proposition a favorable consideration. Let not the fair fame of the Commonwealth be tarnished with the charge of tramping in the mire her bonded obligations. Let her commercial name be shielded from so dishonorable a resort. Never let it be said that any compromise came from the people. It is for them to pay and not to propose. Even if individual credit has lost its integrity in these degenerated times, the people can not afford to see the credit of their State likewise become a by-word of reproach. Let all else go but honor. Let that be cherished as a treasure beyond the reach of a merchandizing spirit.

The Universal Depression in Business.

The Directors of the Bank of England have reduced their rates of interest to 2 per cent. It has never been lower, and has very rarely been as low. The rate of interest allowed on deposits by the joint-stock banks are, of course, lower than the bank rate of discount, and money at call receives a return of 1 per cent. only. Concurrently with this condition of the money market, there exists, in almost every department of industry and of commerce, great stagnation or absolute decadence of enterprise, a limited extent of production and a corresponding contraction of sales. The complaints are universal that business is dull and profits are low. The statistical returns of the Board of Trade show that these statements are not expressions of groundless discontent, for they are based on facts. The statistics show a decline in the values and quantities of the commodities in which we deal with our foreign customers. It is in agreement with these facts that advice from all the principal marts of industry tell us the same tale of declining and unprofitable business. [Ex.]

The Great Tobacco Fair comes off at Nashville June 13, and continues five days. The premiums amount to $5,000. The highest prize is to the owner of the first 20 lbs. of tobacco of any class. To the owner of the best 10 lbs. from the upper Cumberland $250 and best 5, $150; best 3, $111; best 1, $61. To the best handled hhd. from upper Cumberland, $111, and to second best, $61.

J. P. Smith & Co. keep on hand a regular supply of Milwaukee Lager Beer, call and try it.

BREVITIES.

Cut out a platform first and then find the man to fit.
Kerr's character is beyond the reach of that snapping cur-dog, Harney.
Let men be sent to St. Louis to choose an honest man and not a political office-holding dunder.

Ye repudiators, look out! This fall your graves will be dug. 'Ponette now and die hard then.
Some Memphians are out counting, seeking to bushwhack Casey Young. His silence is his safety.

Tilden has out-generalled Bushwhacker in advertising. "Weekly Bugles" and "Morning Screamers" bit his hard money bait.

New York has given the party three Presidential candidate-failures—McClellan, Seymour and Greeley and now offers a fourth. Such conceit!
Tilden has been badly chaperoned by Wall Street Bulls and Bears. Bad company for a Great Reformer. All Tammany is agog with merriment over his political flailing.

Watterson, Breakeridge & Co., failed to get the Kentucky Democrats to honor the hard-money and Tilden resumption note. The people in Convention assembled repudiated the draft.

It is a mistake to suppose that New York will be the pivot of the next election. Powerful opposing factions, all aimed to secure the spoils of office, are gibbering Tilden and distracting the party.

Why send missionaries abroad when it requires six closely-printed columns of a Chicago paper to print the names of the applicants for divorce last year in Cook county, the county in which Chicago is situated?

Congressman Williams, of Illinois, says that the resumption act will be repealed before Congress adjourns. The Western money-policy-medicine is working its way through the hard-money bowels of the Tildenized East.

That American disease, Kleptomania, so abundant in the Navy Department, that even the little chick midlows of the Naval Academy, have caught the contagion. Lately they "went through" a Baltimore drummer. Gen. Schofield, the Sup't, thinks the Academy is too near Washington.

The Centennial Show may yet prove to be a Centennial Swindle. The Commission is being charged with corruption. Let the Managers beware lest a Congressional Investigating Committee use the Democratic surgical knife and lay open a concealed mass of gangrene official bribery.
